

TREASURY OFFSET PROGRAM (TOP) FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

The Treasury Offset Program (TOP) is a debt collection program administered by the Bureau of Fiscal Services (BFS), which is a division of the U.S. Department of the Treasury. Section 303(m) of the Social Security Act requires IDES to send eligible unemployment compensation debts to TOP for offset of the debtor's federal income tax refund due to fraud or a person's failure to correctly report earnings.

What is the Treasury Offset Program (TOP)?

The Treasury Offset Program (TOP) is a debt collection program administered by the Bureau of Fiscal Services (BFS), which is a division of the U.S. Department of the Treasury. Section 303(m) of the Social Security Act requires IDES to send eligible unemployment compensation debts to TOP for offset of the debtor's federal income tax refund. A debtor whose unemployment compensation debt is eligible for collection through TOP will receive a Federal Tax Offset Notice notifying the debtor of IDES's intent to intercept the debtor's federal income tax refund to satisfy an unemployment compensation debt owing to IDES. The notice provides the debtor an opportunity to resolve or dispute the debt within 60 days.

If you have overpayments due to fraud or failure to correctly report earnings, your debt will be referred to TOP.

What is an "offset"?

An offset is when the federal income tax refund you would have received is used to pay all or a portion of a debt owing to a federal or state agency. If the full amount owed is not collected in one year, future offsets may be done to satisfy your debt.

How will I know if my federal income tax refund was used to offset a debt?

When your federal income tax refund is intercepted to offset a debt, the Bureau of Fiscal Services (BFS), will send you a letter notifying you of the amount of the offset, the agency where the offset was sent, and the contact information for that agency.

When is a debt sent to the Treasury Offset Program (TOP)?

In general, when your debt is more than 90 days delinquent, the Illinois Department of Employment Security (IDES) must determine that your debt is valid and collection is legally enforceable. IDES will send you a Federal Tax Offset Notice letter about your debt and provide you with the opportunity to resolve or dispute your debt within 60 days. After 60 days, your debt will be submitted to the TOP for collection.

IDES will respond to questions and inquiries regarding your debt. If you have not received a notice about your debt, your debt may not be eligible for federal offset.

How does the Treasury Offset Program (TOP) work?

- If you owe a delinquent debt to a Government agency or a state and that agency identifies it is eligible for offset, you are sent a Federal Tax Offset Notice letter.
- After the notice is sent, you have 60 days to: repay the debt, agree to a repayment plan, request a review, or notify the agency of your bankruptcy.
- After 60 days if the debt is still delinquent, IDES will send information about your debt to the TOP database.
- Before you receive a federal payment such as a tax refund, the database is searched to see if you owe a delinquent debt.
- If your debt is in the database, your federal payment will be reduced or withheld to pay your debt.
- When your payment is taken, a letter from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will be sent to you regarding the action.

What kinds of federal payments can be reduced?

Depending upon the type of debt you owe, the following federal payments may be eligible for offset:

- Tax refunds
- Federal wages, including military pay
- Federal retirement, including military retirement pay
- Contractor/vendor payments
- Travel advances and reimbursements
- Certain federal benefit payments, such as Social Security (other than Supplemental Security Income), Railroad Retirement (other than tier 2) and Black Lung (part B benefits)
- Other federal payments that are not expressly exempted from offset

Federal law limits the amount that may be withheld from some types of federal payments.

How does a debtor know that he/she is in the Treasury Offset Program (TOP) delinquent debtor database?

These notices include: written notification of the nature and amount of the debt, the intention of IDES to collect the debt through administrative offset and an explanation of rights (inspection, copying, review and repayment opportunities). IDES has therefore informed the delinquent debtor of the potential referral of the debt to the TOP. The U.S. Department of Treasury, Internal Revenue Service will inform the debtor when an offset is taken. You are also entitled at any time to inquire in writing whether you are in the delinquent debtor database maintained by the U.S. Treasury, which will answer you in writing.

If you have evidence to show that the debt is not past due, not legally enforceable or not the result of unreported earnings when claiming benefits, you may submit a written objection to the referral of your debt for offset. How will I know if my federal payment was intercepted to pay a state debt?

After a federal offset occurs, the Financial Management Service (FMS) will notify you that the offset has occurred. FMS will provide information regarding the amount and date of the offset, the state to which the offset was paid and a contact in the state that can handle your concerns or questions regarding the debt that resulted in the refund offset.

My spouse and I filed a joint federal tax return and our refund was intercepted for a debt that my spouse owes. How can I get my portion of the refund back?

You must complete federal Form 8379 to get your share of the refund. To obtain the form, call the IRS at 800-829-3676 or you can download the form from the IRS website.

If you have questions about the form or need help completing it, call your local IRS office or call 800-829-1040. The completed Form 8379 should be mailed to the IRS center where you sent your original tax return.

Will there be any fees associated with the offset?

Yes, the Bureau of Fiscal Services (BFS), will collect an administrative fee for every offset from your federal income tax refund. This fee is collected from your refund before any debts owing to IDES are satisfied. IDES does not collect this fee. Example 1: If the administrative fee is $16.59, your debt to IDES is $150, and your tax refund is $166.59, BFS will take $16.59 from your tax return to satisfy the administrative fee and will send the remaining $150 to IDES to satisfy your debt. Example 2: If your debt to IDES is $1,000 and your tax refund is only $120, BFS will take $16.59 from your tax refund to satisfy the administrative fee, will send the remaining $103.41 to IDES and your debt will remain in the TOP database until the remaining $896.59 of your debt is paid.

What if I have a repayment agreement with IDES?

If you have a repayment agreement with IDES and you have not received a broken agreement letter, missed a payment, or made a payment for less than the amount required in your agreement, you should continue to make your payments on schedule. If you entered into a repayment agreement with IDES and you missed a payment, stopped making payments, or made payments in amounts less than what is required by your repayment agreement, you have broken your repayment agreement and IDES may send your debt to the Treasury Offset Program (TOP) for offset of your federal income tax refund.

What if I don't give you permission to take my federal payment?

State and federal laws authorize the Treasury Offset Program (TOP). IDES is not required to secure your permission prior to submitting your unpaid liability to TOP.

I paid IDES in full, but my federal refund was still offset. What should I do?

At the time your debt was submitted to the Bureau of Fiscal Services (BFS), your debt was not paid in full. Although the IDES sends updated information to BFS to reflect a change in the balance due, it is possible that the amount offset will be more than the balance due at the time of the offset. If IDES receives an amount that is more than what is owed to IDES, IDES will refund the excess to you once it has been posted to your account. If your federal refund was from a jointly filed return, your refund will be issued in both names.
